Our drama classes offer practical performance skills in a fun, high energy environment. Our experienced instructor brings drama alive and assists in teaching vital performance, communication and stage techniques. The positive impact that drama classes can have on any child's development are often greater than most parents expect. Drama classes are interactive and can help a child strengthen communication skills, boost self-confidence, build self esteem, increase their ability to adapt and improvise, learn leadership skills, build social skills, become more assertive, learn how to understand people and make friends.
