Ramadan Mubarak

A Ramadan Reflection from
Mayor Dean J. Trantalis

To all who are observing Ramadan in Fort Lauderdale and around the world, I offer my sincere wishes for a meaningful and blessed month.

Ramadan is a time of devotion and discipline. It's a month that centers the soul through fasting, prayer and reflection. It is also a powerful reminder of our shared responsibility to uplift others, to practice patience and to live with intention.

Here in Fort Lauderdale, we are grateful for the many ways our Muslim neighbors contribute to the life of our city through service, leadership, business, education and community involvement. Your traditions and faith enrich the fabric of our community in lasting ways.

As families gather and communities come together in worship, may this month renew your spirit and strengthen the bonds that connect us all. May it be a time of clarity, generosity and peace.
